What is the "Purpose" of our government? Why was it created? To answer that question we must discover what caused its creation, so let's begin at the source.

Before our Constitution, before the Federalists Papers or the Anti-Federalist Papers, the first official American document was produced. The Declaration of Independence. The abuses and strife that our forefathers bore in the years leading up to what many described as a desperate act, of desperate men, may well be seen through the shadow of history as unique to the era, but were they?

As the founders of our great country state in their opening statement: "In Congress, July 4, 1776 The unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America, When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation." They go on to "declare the causes" of many of the unsolvable disputes the colonies had with "The Crown". Below are listed a few of these causes to encourage the reader to consider these in the honest light of our current status as U.S.citizens.

He has refused his Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.*

For clarification; "Assent" per Webster's 1828 definition: "We assent to a proposition, but we do not consent to it."

For depriving us in many cases, of the benefits of Trial by Jury:*

For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws, and altering fundamentally the Forms of our Governments:*

He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws for establishing Judiciary powers.*

Government's Purpose

He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.*

He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harrass our people, and eat out their substance.*

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his Assent to their Acts of pretended Legislation*

It is incumbent for all who enjoy the bounty provided us by such bold men and women, to read the full text of the Declaration Of Independence. You will find reliability between today and this Two Hundred and Forty Eight year old document.

We now know what propelled the movement, but not answered the question; What's It For!?

Returning to the first cornerstone laid in the foundation of our country, the Declaration Of INDEPENDENCE; "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.-- That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, --That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness."

Footnote: "unalienable" is una' lien' able. I.E. can not be indentured or transferred. Think of a property "lien".

Let's parse this out, multiple, extremely important, principles are defined in the beginning sentence, put into modern jargon states; 1) It is obvious that all mankind are equally created by God, in the image of God and blessed directly by God, with rights inherent to their very creation. These God-given rights can not be separated, nor transferred, from God's creation, and 2) These principles of God-given rights are of such importance to cause mankind to institute government to insure those rights are forever secured. 3) The only source of power available to the people-created government, are those powers freely and knowingly granted to it by the creators, we the people. 4) Should there come a time when the creation (the Government) ceases to demonstrate as its highest priority, securing the rights of the People, or deems itself greater than the creators (the People), it is inherently within the rights of the People to change the Government to bring it back to the original intent of the creators, We The People.

Our Founding Fathers defined the PRIMARY PURPOSE of our Government to be TO SECURE THE RIGHTS of the Citizens of these United States. Reading the Federalist Papers and the Anti-Federalist Papers, publicly published, reveal much about the mindset of the Founders. Written to bring forward the raging debate occurring throughout drafting of the specific wording of our Constitution, much more is exposed than is specifically written. That is the clear understanding that any action not centered around the primary purpose for which Government was created, was, by nature, traitorous. It is also evidenced the drafters understood the adversarial relationship being created between We The People and the Government. Creation of a government whose only source of power was the people, and the only powers granted to the Government were those specifically enumerated (named).

The Use Of Force On J6, Was It Legal?

Guest Article By Chris Caltagirone

In the months following the January 6th protests in Washington, many were quick to offer forceful opinions on the “deplorable” actions of the protesters. The small snippet of time covering the heated back-and-forth between civilians and police in the west tunnel very late in the day was played on infinite loop by most networks. The “dark day” and “insurrection” narratives were therefore well-engrained in most people after the first year. Despite this overwhelming national groupthink, something seemed off. Some of us wondered what really happened on J6 that made so many law-abiding people, many from families with military or law enforcement backgrounds, want to challenge police officers that day.

For any objective person who has reviewed the timeline of the J6 protests and aligned it with the video evidence available thus far, one thing is clear. Many police officers on scene appeared to use excessive force, well beyond what might be “reasonable” in the legal sense. Instead of keeping the peace, some officers appeared to go out of their way to provoke confrontations, or worse. As just one example, Officer Daniel Thau’s body camera footage is available on the internet and offers an unbiased view of what led up to the well-publicized west tunnel “riot.” His camera footage shows the events in the terrace area, well before things got out of hand later in the day. Officers in riot gear are seen firing “less-lethal” munitions into an unarmed and peaceful crowd, from elevated positions no less. This included tear gas, rubber bullets and stun grenades (“flash bangs”). During this time, Officer Thau is shown frantically running around, with almost child-like panic in his voice, screaming at nobody in particular: “We need more f—king munitions!”, “It’s like shooting f—king zombies!” “Just f—king shoot!”

As a fellow law enforcement officer, I had trouble seeing Thau act this way, especially when his body camera footage shows the unarmed crowd was mostly just milling around, waving flags and yelling patriotic slogans. They appeared to present no threat to other civilians or law enforcement officers on scene. Keep in mind many officers were already wearing full riot gear and positioned on a balcony approximately 20 feet above the protesters, far from any “danger”.

Despite all this, Thau and other officers began indiscriminately launching less lethal munitions into the crowd, sometimes at point blank range. They were fired without any verbal warnings, without any orders to disperse, and often from elevated positions, at a peaceful crowd containing thousands of children, women and elderly citizens.

Sworn law enforcement officers are well aware less lethal munitions are typically reserved for violent, combative individuals who pose an imminent threat to the safety of those around them or police officers. Yet officers are seen indiscriminately firing these munitions into the milling crowd at nobody in particular, without any verbal warnings or orders to disperse. Dozens of civilians sustained horrible injuries when they were hit by these munitions, including one adult male who is shown on video getting medical attention after the left side of his face was blown open by a rubber bullet he (and those around him) didn’t see coming. An adult female and her husband both suffered permanent burns requiring hospitalization when they were hit by a flash bang that was thrown blindly from an elevated position. Just two examples of many.

So from a legal standpoint, what does it mean to say a particular use of force is “reasonable”? In almost all law enforcement agencies, sworn officers are subject to an internal use of force review any time force is used to either effect an arrest or control a subject. This includes anything from “going hands-on” all the way up to discharging a firearm. At minimum, the officer’s actions are reviewed by an internal panel of superiors and peers, to determine if the use of force was reasonable. Appropriate action is then taken if the officer’s use of force was determined to be inconsistent with agency policy, as well as established case law.

Federal case law has provided an “objective reasonableness” test since 1989, via Graham vs. Connor (490 US 386), which replaced the previous “malicious intent” standard. In Graham vs. Connor, the US Supreme Court moved away from a subjective 8th Amendment test and replaced it with a more objective standard for evaluating whether an officer’s use of force was excessive, all within the context of a 4th Amendment seizure. The PDF of the Court’s opinion is easily searchable on the internet. It’s an informative read that generates lengthy debates to this day.

In this decision, the Court determined whether or not a particular use of force is “reasonable” should be applied through the lens of a reasonable officer on scene, based on the “totality of the circumstances.” This analysis needs to take three factors into account:

- What was the severity of the crime at issue? Even if you believe the protesters had no right to be physically present on the Capitol grounds, they were at most “guilty” of Disorderly Conduct and/or Failure to Disperse, both (barely) misdemeanors.

- Did any of the subjects pose an immediate threat to the safety of the officers? As explained above, it would be hard for a reasonable officer to come to that conclusion.
- Did any of the subjects actively resist arrest or attempt to evade arrest? Prior to the deployment of these munitions, citizens exercising their 1st Amendment rights were never told they were under arrest, nor even made aware they had committed a “crime.”

From a legal standpoint, the deployment of less lethal munitions at a peaceful crowd on J6 was therefore likely unreasonable and an excessive use of force. It unnecessarily escalated tensions and provoked some citizens to fight back as best they could. Just to cite two examples as the day progressed, Lt. Michael Byrd effectively executed Ashli Babbitt (an unarmed female veteran) at point blank range with a single pistol shot from a concealed position and no verbal warning. Officer Lila Morris is seen on multiple videos clubbing Roseanne Boyland (an unconscious adult female) multiple times with her ASP baton, at one point swinging so hard it flew out of her hands. Byrd and Morris were both “cleared” by internal investigations that were not made available to the public, and then later promoted with great fanfare. Other camera footage from J6 shows officers winding up and clubbing defenseless citizens with baton strikes to the head as they do nothing more than walk through an already open door. True cowardice on full display.

Despite the hundreds of documented significant injuries to J6 protestors, not one law enforcement officer sustained anything close to serious bodily injury. Officer Brian Sicknick’s death was determined to have occurred days after J6 and was due to health issues, not being hit over the head with a fire extinguisher, which was proven to be completely false. In fact, almost all J6 law enforcement injury reports indicated tear gas exposure, mostly self-deployed. Oddly enough, despite the largest public assembly of 2nd amendment supporters in our history, and despite hundreds of undercover Federal officers in the crowd egging people on, not one firearm was brandished by any Trump supporter that day. Not one.

Law enforcement officers are regularly trained on the use of less lethal munitions and the hurdle to justify their usage is very high due to the significant probability of serious injury. Based on my training and experience, that high hurdle was clearly not met on J6. The officers shown indiscriminately deploying these munitions on unarmed civilians without warning should turn in their badges and apologize to the nation for breaking their sworn oath to protect and serve.

Throughout these debates, government becoming the enemy of our freedom becomes a theme. In a famous quote attributed to Thomas Jefferson, the author of our Declaration Of Independence; "to bind them with the constraints of the Constitution, preventing them from misusing their authority." Highlighting the understanding that a monster was being created and the Constitution was to be the vital tool for protecting our individual rights and freedoms from government overreach and its insatiable appetite for power. Reiterating the primary purpose of government laid in our first cornerstone, now known simply as "The Declaration".

We, as a people and U.S. citizens, have been consistently persuaded to ignore this purpose of our Government. When was the last time you witnessed one of your leaders standing in the gap against government in defense of your rights? Or, more to the point, when was the last time YOU stood up to your elected or appointed representatives in defense of YOUR rights?

We are Being inundated with sly, innuendo-laden, messages from our government through all means of media and organizations. One of these nefarious messages seems intent on convincing us that we enjoy our liberties at the behest of government. Another, even more nefarious and less subliminal, is designed to convince us that we are not, and never have been, a Christian nation. Honest research, accompanied by a clear understanding of nineteenth century English language, (Webster's 1828 Dictionary recommended) will remove all doubt about the falsehood of these claims. In fact, throughout the history of mankind, America is the ONLY nation in the history of the world to be founded under God and not a man. Israel is the only nation that comes close, it was founded BY God. This brings us back to the TRUE source of our National Power.

The previously encouraged honest research project should have uncovered what many have attempted to bury. The United States, AMERICA, is a covenant nation. Dedicated to God by the earliest settlers and by our leaders at its founding. Researched evidence will expose the correlation of our submission to God and our unparalleled rise to power on the world stage. Also exposed, will be our demise and its direct correlation to our rebellion and national rejection of God Almighty, breaking our covenant. Some may say, "ah come on now, you really believe that God is in control?"

Yep, I do. Let's look at a VERY modern example of this undeniable TRUTH.

Prior to 2019 El Salvador was a country in chaos. Crime was at an all time high, violent crime was out of control, cartels were controlling society. It had become known as the "murder capital of the world" much like multiple major cities in America today. In 2019, El Salvador's Nayib Bukele was elected President. The first presidential candidate since 1989 to be elected not affiliated with one of the two major political parties in El Salvador. Since his arrival, Bukele has transformed El Salvador into "the safest country in the western hemisphere". But HOW!? According to Bukele, in an interview with Tucker Carlson, they made an official plan, which was a lie, but they did one and it worked. That is what they told the media. That's the "official" statement. The TRUTH is "it's a miracle". "It was an impossible mission, so we prayed." Who was "we"? The security council of El Salvador. Not the nation, not just the President, but those who were in charge of the country and the effort to bring civility back to El Salvador. President Bukele declared the significance that led them to seek God's help and favor was that this was a spiritual war that had manifested into the physical realm. The results confirm, beyond all doubt that God's promise declared in 2Ch 7:14: "if my people, who are called by my name, will humble themselves and pray and seek my face and turn from their wicked ways, then I will hear from heaven, and I will forgive their sin and will heal their land." As with all God's promises, it is conditional. "IF"

It's up to We The People, we still have HOPE. Do we have the courage to be humble?

All eyes were on Geneva this past week, as the World Health Organization held its 77th World Health Assembly.

As planned, their annual meeting came to a close on June 1, 2024, albeit late in the evening due to last minute deliberations. And as expected, the victory cries by some people on "our side" were indeed unwarranted.

Modified illustration. Original by Hermann Mueller.

At the eleventh hour, the amendments to the 2005 International Health Regulations were adopted. The full, revised version of the IHR isn't good news. As for the "pandemic treaty", negotiations were extended until the next WHA at the latest, with an objective of reaching an agreement by the end of 2024. The next round of meetings is scheduled to take place in July, as per the official announcement. It may be delayed, but it's still on.

This evening, about 24 hours later, James Roguski and I jumped on a call to do a debrief on the WHA's outcome, focusing on the IHR amendments in particular.

More importantly, James highlighted the faulty premise upon which these regulations — and the WHO itself — stand.

"Pharmakia" is the enemy, and the different "stakeholders" including our own governments, have been working hand in hand to extend Big Pharma's nefarious reach since the very inception of the WHO, and even longer. These latest developments are no different, in that they serve to further their goal: our decreased health and their increased wealth.

The fight is far from over — it continues, and we are blessed to have James in our corner. In this latest episode, he cuts through all the noise of the past year (+), and gives us an overview as to where we stand today following the WHA.

Beware The People Who Want Left Alone.

"The most terrifying force of death, comes from the hands of Men who wanted to be left Alone.

They try, so very hard, to mind their own business and provide for themselves and those they love.

They resist every impulse to fight back, knowing the forced and permanent change of life that will come from it.

They know, that the moment they fight back, their lives as they have lived them, are over.

The moment the Men who wanted to be left alone are forced to fight back, it is a form of suicide.

They are literally killing off who they used to be. Which is why, when forced to take up violence, these Men who wanted to be left alone, fight with unholy vengeance against those who murdered their former lives.

They fight with raw hate, and a drive that cannot be fathomed by those who are merely play-acting at politics and terror.

TRUE TERROR will arrive at these people's door, and they will cry, scream, and beg for mercy... but it will fall upon the deaf ears of the Men who just wanted to be left alone."

Citizen Groups Stepping Up To Demand Honest Elections

by Jack Gleason

Political contests, often called "races," are refereed by election officials who are required to follow very specific federal and state laws. As government has become an ever-increasing force in our daily lives, the results make a huge difference at the local, state and national level. When the irregularities of the 2020 election were ignored by the justice system and the media, average citizens came forward to figure out what might have happened.

In upstate New York, Marly Hornik, a home-school mom, teamed up with election and cybersecurity expert Harry Haury, and formed New York Citizens Audit to investigate their state voter roll database.

They released peer-reviewed statistical reports that exposed alarming errors in the data for 2020 and 2022. Among their findings for 2022... 1,467,399 illegal duplicate registrations with 449,856 votes cast.

16,623 votes cast by voters with a blank address.

35,312 more votes counted than voters who voted – an impossibility in a properly conducted election.

They founded a nationwide group, United Sovereign Americans, (USA) to share their legal and statistics expertise with over 25 state groups investigating their own databases. The organization is 100% non-partisan. In elections where Republicans win, the Democrats have suspected foul play, and vice versa. BOTH sides need to be certain that election results are fair and honest.

Hornik: "...the only job of an election administrator is to follow the law. You have an election system that is inherently a zero-trust system. You have naturally adversarial parties, they have no reason to trust each other, and they actually have quite a lot of reasons not to trust each other. And they have all these supporters, they have donors, there's this whole machine backing each one of these adversaries.

So how is it, that at the end of the day, we maintain domestic tranquility, we maintain continuity of government, and everybody hears the election result and goes home in peace? That's because the election official has to walk a tightrope between those two adversaries. That tightrope is the exact procedures required by law for the administration of the election that everyone will end up feeling is fair, and believing in and trusting as fair. If they step off that tightrope, the Supreme Court says there's only one reason." -Fraud-

"That's it, why else would you take all those risks, why would you disrupt the harmony of a nation?"

Without media or congressional action on election validity, citizen groups like the USA are now the only way to demand that elections follow established federal law.

Jane Lewis Rectenwald

Oct 4, 1947 - Jan 5, 2024

Truth Seeker, Visionary, Warrior

One of her favorite quotes:
 "We didn't realize we were making memories, we just thought we were having fun."

A.K.A. Milne, Winnie-the-Pooh

What was important to Jane was, her faith in God, and the love of this country God placed her in, this is why the "Truth" was so important to Jane.

Born on Long Island, NY, raised in Pittsburgh, Pa. Jane graduated 1969 with a B.A. in English from Northwestern University.

Jane having an adventurous Spirit thought "Go West". Traveling on I-90 she exited in Missoula, Mt. Where Jane decided to stay, in the town of Florence in an isolated primitive cabin at Lolo Creek. Working as a regional representative of the Montana Girl Scouts.

After a few years Jane return to her home town of Pittsburgh where she earned an MBA at the U of P.

Jane returned to Montana 1995 to retrieve her heart for there is where she left it.

During a Missoula City ballot, in about 2000, there was a levy voted on which passed that included a water park and a 50m pool. The 50m pool was never built which riled Jane to no end, hence Jane's introduction into Politics. Jane being a stickler for Truth, and government accountability, got the pool built.

In about 2010, Jane got elected to the County Review Board. Being who she was, a lone wolf, standing against the swamp and deeping her resolve to stand against, speak out and take it to "We the People." Never desiring political power but always believing in doing what was right.

Seeking Truth, Jane got very involved in the Founding Fathers original intent that politicians and bureaucrats were not sovereign in government but "We the People" are and government got their just powers from the consent of the governed "We the People."

During the 2020 election with all the lying and fraud that occurred was to much, it got Jane riled up again. With all the information needed in hand, including laws broken, showing politicians and bureaucrats ignored her.

With her compass of doing right she was again standing against, speaking out and taking it to "We the People." The people responded by getting angry because they realized they had been duped. Jane traveled from west to east, north to south, the hardest county was Missoula her home town.

Jane became an energetic advocate for election integrity in Montana, establishing the "Montana Election Integrity Project" which did the "Canvas Report" of Montana's 2020 Election.

In October 2015 Jane got involved with Hillsdale College culminating in History classes in Missoula.

"Her strong moral compass led her to establish the "Philippians 4:8 Scholarship" at Hillsdale College."

Some of Jane's favorite quotes are:
 "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty."
 -Thomas Jefferson -

"What the Truth hath spoken, that for Truth I hold." - Thomas Aquinas -

"Never, never, never give up."
 - Winston Churchill -

"Pursuing Truth, Defending Liberty"
 Hillsdale College

These things Jane did with unwavering enthusiasm, just like her Savior and Lord.

Philippians 4:8

"Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honorable, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things."

On June 11th we lost a man of faith, of love, of integrity, one who cherished friendship.

You always did enjoy a good bowl of soup.

My Dear friend,

With tears in my eyes and on my face, sorrow in my heart, words escape my lips. Conversations we'll never have, time never shared.

But what I do have, I will always cherish.

You were always there for me, always willing to help. As you were when I ran for HD 86, you were sitting in your Gander Mountain rocking chair on the corner holding my sign, "Elect Jeff Jones." I Am so grateful you were in my life, because of you, it was better.

You helped me stay on the narrow path. I will always miss you, my Dear friend, "Rich".

"Richard B Compton Sr."

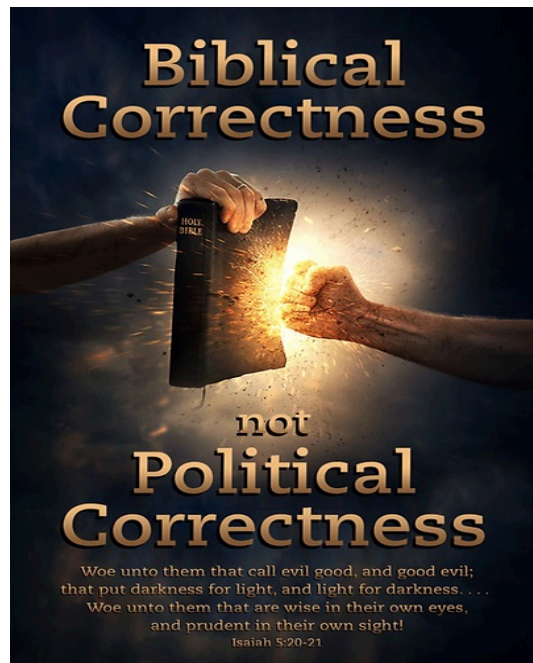

Goodbye, my Brother
 Until we meet again
 I will always love you

Spiritual Warfare, Fear, and the Gospel

By Von Dailey

Author of "My Experiences with The Trinity"
VonDailey.Com

There have been three things on my mind lately and the title gives it away. It's important to realize the battles we face today are spiritual battles. Satan is doing everything in his power to destroy us in multiple ways. First, he is using fear to control what we can do as a whole. Second, many of our jobs have been taken away so that we may not take care of our families. Third, our food industry is suffering and already, there are places that feel that crunch and it's going to get worse. I'm not telling you anything you don't already know, it's right before our eyes. But I want to remind you of verses in Ephesians 6:10-17. At the end of the day, it's all about a battle over souls. Satan hates God's creation and wants to destroy us. Adversely, God so loves us that He gave His one and only son that we should not perish but have eternal life. The choice is each one of our personal responsibility's to choose who we are going to follow.

Ephesians 6:10-17 The Armor of God

10: Finally, be strong in the Lord and in his mighty power. 11: Put on the full armor of God, so that you can take your stand against the devil's schemes. 12: For our struggle is not against flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the authorities, against the powers of this dark world and against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly realms. 13: Therefore put on the full armor of God, so that when the day of evil comes, you may be able to stand your ground, and after you have done everything, to stand. 14: Stand firm then, with the belt of truth buckled around your waist,

We ^{Inspire} the People with the breastplate of righteousness in place, 15: and with your feet fitted with the readiness that comes from the gospel of peace. 16: In addition to all this, take up the shield of faith, with which you can extinguish all the flaming arrows of the evil one. 17" Take the helmet of salvation and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God.

Who's Our Enemy

Pay particular attention to verse 12: For our struggle is not against flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the authorities, against the powers of this dark world and against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly realms.

It tells us who our enemy really is. It is sometimes easy to forget who our real enemy is and start blaming this person or that person. Isn't it just like Satan to take the spotlight off of himself and put it on people. So remember, who our real enemy is and put on the full armor of God. Be prepared to fight in the name of Jesus. And by fight, I'm saying be prepared because the flaming arrows are coming and you need to be ready. Prayer is powerful so pray constantly because Satan doesn't take a break so it imperative to keep the offensive fight up.

With the full armor of God, remember, Jesus is with you always. He will never leave you or forsake you. Throughout history it's as important as ever to have faith and not waiver. Fear really isn't an option, we need to stand firm in the name of the Lord and be the warriors we are meant to be. Much like David when he confronted Goliath. David was not timid, he ran towards Goliath without hesitation because he knew that God was on his side. That is the kind of warrior all Christians need to be. Faith in the Lord and know that what ever happens God is on your side.

ROMANS 8:36-37

As it is written: "For your sake we face death all day long; we are considered as sheep for the slaughter? No, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us.

1 Timothy 6:12

Fight the good fight of the faith. Take hold of the eternal life to which you were called when you made your good confession in the presence of many witnesses.

2 Corinthians 10:4

The weapons we fight with are not the weapons of the world. On the contrary, they have divine power to demolish strongholds.

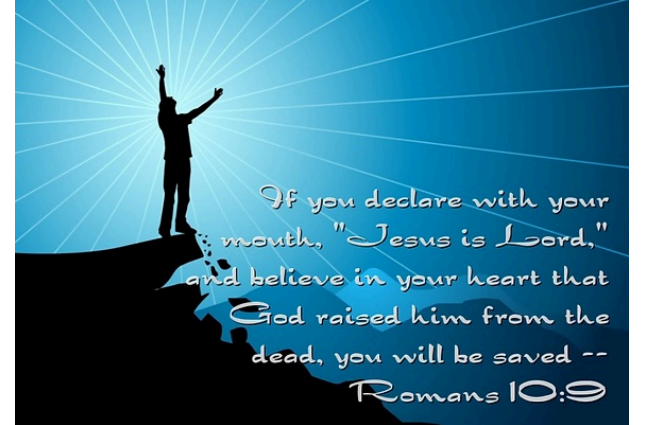

Isaiah 41:10

So do not fear, for I am with you; do not be dismayed, for I am your God. I will strengthen you and help you; I will uphold you with my righteous right hand.

I've briefly touched on spiritual warfare and fear and both of these are very important subjects, but if you don't know Jesus as your personal savior now is the perfect time to accept Him. Jesus died on the cross and was resurrected not only to save us and wash our sin away but He also gave us power and authority over evil. If you don't know Jesus and if you think you're going to get through this life alone you are sadly mistaken. It's is time to join the winning team and secure your freedom and salvation.

Romans 10:9

John 14:15-17

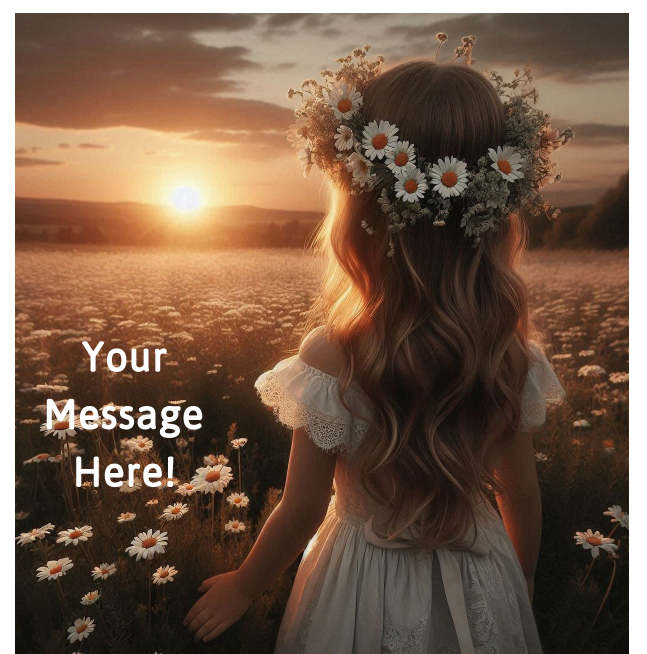

If you love me, keep my commandments. I will ask the Father to give you another Helper, to be with you always. He is the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, because it neither sees him nor recognizes him. But you recognize him, because he lives with you and will be in you.

When you accept Jesus, he sends the Holy Spirit to you whom is always with where ever you are.

Now is the time, there is no time to waste. Put on the full armor of God, be the warrior he created you to be and don't let Satan catch you off guard. Take the fight to him by praying and calling on the Lord to fight the evil within the spiritual realm.

POWER OF PRAYER

Dear Heavenly Father, thank you for salvation. Thank you for your sacrifice that makes it possible to be snatched out of Satan's grasp. Thank you for always being with us and never leaving us or forsaking us. Thank you for making all things possible through you. Thank you for coming to testify to the truth, for warning us to fear not 365 times in the New Testament, and for all your promises that give us courage to stand firm and profess the truth. Thank you, in your precious name Jesus, I pray. Amen

The March to Globalism Continues

Staff

The United Nations is actively navigating the river to one-world-governance, aka, Globalism. While we, in these United States, take a breath on what we were sold as a “win” against the World Health Organization’s (WHO) plans to implement their draconian “Pandemic Treaty” which is not a treaty at all (more on that later) it comes to light that the United Nations has introduced what is called “Our Common Agenda”.

Is our common agenda one focused on empowering the individual on a global scale? Is it an agenda to strengthen the independence to create a stronger team of U.N. member countries? Is it designed to lift up the world’s poor populations currently being oppressed by their governments or ruthless gangs? Upon perusal of “Our Common Agenda” I can, with confidence, state emphatically NO to all those questions.

On the opening page titled “A Wake-up call”, after the expected aggrandizing of the organization, a list titled “The Cost Of Covid-19” is listed. This list includes such claims as

“The pandemic-induced poverty surge will also widen the gender poverty gap, meaning more women will be pushed into extreme poverty than men.”

“Nearly one in three people in the world (2.37 billion) did not have access to adequate food in 2020 – an increase of almost 320 million people in just one year”

“Early estimates suggest a potential increase of up to 45 per cent in child mortality because of health-service shortfalls and reductions in access to food.”

“Total working hours fell by 8.8 per cent in 2020, the equivalent of 255 million full time jobs.”

“Restricted movement, social isolation and economic insecurity are increasing women’s vulnerability to violence in the home around the world.”

Challenges presented by C-19 are declared such as; shared vulnerability, inequalities in societies, disenchantment with institutions and political leadership, vaccine nationalism.

“Benefits” of C-19 are listed including; a surge of collective action, reminded of the vital role of the State in solving problems, the need for networks of actors stretching well beyond States to cities, corporations, scientists, health professionals, researchers, civil society, the media, faith-based groups and individuals and solidarity are the only solutions, within societies and between nations.

Notice NO RESPONSIBILITY for this attack on mankind was assigned or suggested.

The first few pages of this multi-chapter “Agenda” are exalting “Solidarity” as the solution to most all the world’s ills. This self-proclaimed U.N. touted “solution” of solidarity is a requirement bolstered by mostly unfounded claims of the “successes” attributed to the U.N. including “helping to avert WW III”.

Further in we find; “THE CHOICE BEFORE US: A SCENARIO OF BREAKDOWN AND PERPETUAL CRISIS” Issues driving this “Perpetual Crisis” are listed as;

DEADLY PANDEMICS
UNINHABITABLE PLANET
DESTABILIZING INEQUALITIES

Are you beginning to recognize a trend here? The U.N. has adopted the mantle of an independent government. Like most governments, the only source of power is the people. The advantage the U.N. has is they don’t need to convince (read deceive) millions of citizens that their “agenda” is worthy of support. They only need to convince, deceive or bribe enough “leaders” of countries to support their agenda. A minor investment for a multinational, multi-TRILLION dollar, autonomous, organization being mostly funded by YOUR TAX DOLLARS. The financial support restored to the U.N. by the Biden administration is indicative of its support for this agenda.

The U.S. has historically been the primary obstacle to the U.N. achieving their long-held goal of making the world’s governments vassal states. This “Common Agenda” contains a work-around to one principal roadblock. Independent economies.

The U.N. has devised a plan, based on the European Union (EU) marketplace, who have thrown their support behind this agenda. This plan will require all corporations generating over a set value annually, to come into compliance with strict Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) criteria. Those corporations who come into compliance to achieve acceptable scores will be allowed to do business under the U.N. approved umbrella in the EU. But there IS a catch. It will not be only the Big corporations that will be required to come into compliance with the ESG standards. It will also be all associated small businesses supplying goods and services to these compliant major corporations. Aluminium and steel suppliers, electrical suppliers, shipping, transportation, etc. Also impacted will be the suppliers to those companies such as power providers, fuel suppliers, etc. It is a wide net the U.N. is constructing in an attempt to bring the U.S. to heel.

This is a prime example of: IF YOU AND YOUR REPRESENTATIVES ARE NOT ACTIVELY FIGHTING TO SECURE AND DEFEND YOUR FREEDOMS, YOU ARE, BY DEFAULT, SURRENDERING THEM.

The enemies of freedom NEVER SLEEP!

This is the first of a series on this newly announced U.N. agenda.

Montana Freedom Caucus Calls For Special Session

On May 8th, 2024 multiple calls for a special legislative session were issued by the Montana Freedom Caucus. The purpose of these calls varied. All were topics that one would identify as Republican issues. Yet, each call was defeated by the Republican Supermajority legislative slate of representatives sent to Helena in 2022.

Legislative actions to be considered in these calls were:

Call 1 drafted May 4th was to: ...“improve transparency, accuracy and trust in Montana’s election’s.” Issues addressed in this call were to be “lack of clarity in Montana code concerning what is a verified United States citizen allowed to vote in state and national elections, and lack of on the same topic in the Montana Constitution. These conditions allow for the possibility of disenfranchising Montana’s citizens to the benefit of non-citizens and reducing Montanan’s trust in our election systems and processes. And ...”to consider a Constitutional Initiative to be placed on the ballot for November 2024 and to adopt statutory guidelines to clarify proof of citizenship requirements.”

Call 2 drafted May 6th was to: "Regulate illegal alien entry into Montana Regulate in relation to illegal aliens, including but not limited to: nonprofits, organizations, individuals and businesses Distribution of Marijuana Tax Revenue"

Call 3 drafted May 6th was to: ...“an upcoming election in November 2024 to fill two vacant seats on the Montana Supreme Court. Absent reforms, Montana’s current “non-partisan” judicial election system will deprive Montana Voters of the most important information about the candidates running for these seats: their party affiliation. As a result, Montana voters may unknowingly cast their ballots for judicial candidates who do not share the voter’s worldview. ...”to consider bills that would allow judicial candidates to have their party affiliations appear on ballots, thereby providing voters with important information they need to make informed choices when casting their ballots.”

One reason given in these calls to reassemble the legislature to address issues not addresses during the regular session is the unanticipated “sine die” that brought the unfinished legislative session to a premature close.

These action items all appear to be important, and some critical, issues for all Maontanans regardless of party affiliation. They also all seem to be in full accordance with the official MTGOP platform. Yet, the supermajority Republican Montana Congress refused to support the calls.

The Ravalli County Representatives votes for and against each call are recorded as follows:

Bedey: Call 1: Against Call 2: Against Call 3: Against

Binkley: Call 1: No Vote Call 2: No Vote Call 3: No Vote

Ellsworth: Call 1: No Vote Call 2: No Vote Call 3: No Vote

Marshall: Call 1: For Call 2: For Call 3: For

Manzella: Call 1: For Call 2: For Call 3: For

Rusk: Call 1: Against Call 2: Against Call 3: Against

All Calls were favored by the House and opposed by the Senate. The combined vote totals for the House and the Senate resulted in failure of all calls.

The voting record for all Congressional Representatives can be found on the Secretary of State website under: elections/election results/ then scroll down to “Special Session” about ¾ down the page

Drafting The Declaration Of Independence

In June 1776, the Continental Congress appointed a five-member committee, known as the Committee of Five, to draft a declaration of independence. The committee consisted of Thomas Jefferson, John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, Roger Sherman, and Robert R. Livingston. Thomas Jefferson, who was only 33 years old at the time, was tasked with writing the initial draft.

The First Draft

Jefferson’s first draft, also known as the “original Rough draught,” was written in June 1776. This draft was a comprehensive document that outlined the colonies’ grievances against King George III and the British government, as well as the colonies’ right to seek independence.

Revisions and Edits

The Committee of Five reviewed Jefferson’s draft and made significant changes, including adding 86 changes suggested by John Adams and Benjamin Franklin. The document was then presented to the Continental Congress for review and editing.

The Final Version

After several revisions, the final version of the Declaration of Independence was adopted by the Continental Congress on July 4, 1776. The document declared the 13 American colonies’ independence from Great Britain and established the United States of America as a sovereign nation.
